Question - Explain the causes & significance of the Home Rule Movement in India, highlighting the roles of Bal Gangadhar Tilak & Annie Besant.

The Home rule movement was born not out of wartime enthusiasm but out of wartime disillusionment. The Indian expectations of responsible govt. collided with Imperial policy causing Nationalism to enter a new phase marked by demand for immediate self-govt or Home Rule.

Causes/Events leading to All India Home Rule League

- ① Bal Gangadhar Tilak was released from Mandalay Jail in 1914 and started to think of ways of reuniting extremists with moderates.
- ② Annie Besant came to India in 1893 to work for Theosophical Society and she aimed for all India movement similar to the Irish Home Rule League.
- ③ Annie Besant in 1914 urged the Congress to accept mod extremist leaders again and as such in Bombay session of 1915, Congress amended its constitution to admit extremist delegates.

④ Though in the same session, Besant's demand for home rule was rejected and she went on to launch her own league.

⑤ In 1916, Annie Besant and Tilak launched two separate leagues under the same alliance

— All India Home Rule League.

⑥ In 1914, British war council unanimously passed a resolution to send Indian troops in foreign lands as IEF (Indian Expeditionary Forces), beginning India's direct involvement in world war - I. The Moderates & extremists hoped for constitutional reforms and self-rule but nothing really happened. This led gave a strong reason to both the factions to merge.

Significance of Home Rule League Movement

① Tilak's League — a) Tilak launched his league from Balagum in April, 1916 in Poona and created 6 branches in Central Province, Maharashtra, Berar and Kannataka.

b) He was able to garner support of roughly 1.5 lakh people as his league was very organized as compared to Besant's league.
