Question - Comment on the impact of Chauri Chaura incident on the Non-Cooperation movement

The Chauri Chaura incident was an unprecedented force that had unconsciously deflected the movement (NCM) from its right path. The incident not only exposed the current state of NCM but also made the movement leaderless, eventually leading to its call-off on 12th Feb 1922.

Impact of Chauri Chaura on NCM

at withdrawal of movement

① NCM became leaderless - After the meeting of Congress working Committee on 12th Feb 1922 (condemning the incident as inhumane on the part of masses) at Bardoli, Gandhi was arrested by British authority on 10th March 1922.

② Criticism from within Congress -

→ "National Calamity" - Subash Chandra Bose.

→ "Amazement & Consternation" expressed by Nehru.

Moreover, many Congress leaders became critical of Gandhian approach that why should the entire Nation pay for the mistake of few?

③ Movement fell into the Ambit of Gandhi's favorite
"Struggle-Tsue-Struggle" strategy whereby

Gandhi realised that

→ Masses cannot ~~end~~ sacrifice endlessly.

→ Masses need ~~some~~ time to rejuvenate & prepare for the next movement.

→ Tsue shall give the govt. some time to respond to the demands.

→ Reinforced of Nonviolence

→ emergence of new leadership etc.

④ Direct assault on Gandhian principle of "Ahimsa"

- Gandhi acknowledged that he miscalculated that the masses were ready for a non-violent protest.

put it in part 2 notes separate heading

⑤ Fear of Brutal Repression - The incident

infused anger into British authority by torching the chowki with 22 policemen inside, thereby allowing British to suppress the movement using brutal force, further causing violence ⇒ Gandhi himself withdrew the movement which could be defeated if continued.

Impact on leadership strategy

↳ focus on ideological clarity etc.

⑥ Exposed weaknesses in the current state of movement —

a) From peasants point of view, the movement

Question - Was becoming "class revolution" against zamindars instead of the aimed "mass based movement".

b) Limitations of masses - cannot sacrifice endlessly.

c) Like Khilafat issue lost relevance as the people of Turkey rose against the sultan under the leadership of "Mustafa Kemal Pasha".

Thus, the chauri-chaura movement revealed the energy of masses & the extent of mass-mobilization. To prevent this "unchannelized energy" from causing the culture of violence in India, Gandhi call-off the movement as part of the struggle-tuce-struggle strategy, thereby converting a "potential future defeat" into a "halt" to empower masses again.
